Hochparterre Print

Hochparterre, the journal for architecture, planning and design, has had an important say in Swiss design and architecture matters since 1988, and its impact extends far beyond Switzerland's borders. It seeks to do three things: inform, evaluate and make a useful contribution. The journal's goal is to be a specialized professional source but also clear and comprehensible. Hochparterre selects topics in view of their current importance.

The specialist magazine is aimed at a clearly defined readership:

- Architects
- Designers
- Interior designers
- Students in these fields of study
- Building authorities
- Housing associations
- Specialist consultants
- General contractors
- Public institutions and administrations
- Institutional investors
- Architecture and design enthusiasts

Hochparterre enables you to reach the real decision-makers even more efficiently by avoiding waste circulation. All major, important Swiss architects and authorities as well as universities and institutes of technology subscribe to the journal. Hochparterre is an important tool for this target group, it is retained for reference purposes and its topicality extends well beyond the date of publication.

A week before the advertising deadline, you will receive a preview of the topics covered in the following issue. Subscribe to the preview of topics free of charge: anzeigen@hochparterre.ch
